Department Of Mass Media Celebrates Radio Day ‘#ONAIR’

“Radio is the medium which brings people closer. So you should know how to script the program for different time and festivals” said Rashmi Warang, a Radio Jockey for 100.1 AIR FM GOLD on the occasion of World Radio Day, which is celebrated on 13th February every year, as declared by UNESCO, to celebrate radio as a medium of entertainment and information and the mode of communication. The Department of Mass Media celebrated this day by arranging ‘#On Air’, a lecture on Challenges and Opportunities as Radio Jockey.

The session began by asking students which RJ’s do they like and why. RJ Mallishka was the favorite among youngsters because of her style to wish Good Morning. RJ Anurag Pandey was on second in list, for his show Radio Nasha on Fever 104 FM. This showed the path of how the scripting for different programs takes place. The scripting for early morning show has to be soothing as people tune in when they have just woken up. As a RJ one has to make them feel positive through the thoughts and words. The scripting for evening show changes, where people leave from office in frustration and expect traffic updates from you. One has to understand the significance of show and accordingly use the words. She illustrated her experience of being on air after 26/11, wherein Rashmi was advised to talk about environment but do not use the word Terrorism or Terrorist. That means one cannot divulge the information. This usually has to be taken care during the election phase and when there are critical situations happening in the society.

In the talk show, she further highlighted her experience as RJ for the first time. She made students understand all about Feeder and Voice Modulation. She expressed that AIR channel is the only one which gives you live show. All the other private channels provide you a pre-recorded show. So when you work for a Government channel, you have to be much disciplined and mistakes should be avoided. A RJ cannot leave the show unless and until the next RJ turns up.

Whatever emergency you may have still the show must go on is the need of media. She also threw light on thin difference between Media and Glamour World. This is generally mistaken by students where they understand media as glamorous world but fail to understand the pains and pressure a scrivener has to undergo. During her first show, even she made a mistake of not reducing feeder of talking and the consequence was the song and talk went simultaneously on air. A mistake may be tolerated once or twice but not all times, this is the underlined rule of media. So, you as students should understand these thin lines of becoming disciplined at this platform make your opinions clear of which stream in media fascinates you and your capabilities and make a choice accordingly. Media is that pillar of democracy which demands you to be on toes. A RJ has to be ready for 5:00 am show or 11:00 pm show and your mind should be set for the same. She also gave an input of how diplomatically the situation has to be handled. There are programs which play songs on public demand. At that moment you have to transit yourself from first song to another through common thread and tune the song. People recognize you through voice. So use your voice as an asset. Voice modulation is an indispensable part of radio and so, if any student dreams to pursue Radio Jockey as a career, has to develop a pleasant voice which will appeal to people. Your habits, stress and mental disturbances affect your voice.

The event was graced by the presence of and Dr. Lok Lew Yan Voon, Dean, University of West Georgia, Dr. Naresh Chandra, Principal, Birla College, Dr. Avinash Patil, Vice-Principal, Birla College. Principal addressed the students of how radio is changing time to time. He also encouraged students to come up with innovative ideas. Pupils were highly obliged to hear the inputs from Dr. Lok Lew Yan Voon, who hails from culturally diverse island of Mauritius, pursued his higher studies from University of Cambridge and University of British Columbia. A person with strong vision for development linked his knowledge with Radio Transmission Technology (Antenna). He provided information about the first radio transmissions from Eifel Tower, Paris. The program was attended by 90 students. The event was conducted under the guidance of Ms. Sayali Sonawane, Incharge, Department of Mass Media.
